The spectral dossier

Brazil

- Bryan Holmes (2015). “Música e tecnomorfismo: surgimento do conceito e estudos preliminares” [Music and technomorphism: origins of the concept and preliminary studies].
  Resonancias 19/36, 95–113.
  Six of Holmes’s 22 texts cite Peter Niklas Wilson on technomorphism in Entretemps 8.

- Silvio Ferraz (1999). “Criação musical com suporte tecnológico” [Composing music with technology].
  Anais do XII Encontro Anual da ANPPOM, Salvador.
  Ferraz distinguishes his own use of technology from Wilson’s account of spectral technomorphism.

- Tatiana Catanzaro. Transformações na linguagem musical contemporânea instrumental e vocal sob a influência da música eletroacústica entre as décadas de 1950-70
  [Transformations in the language of contemporary instrumental and vocal music under the influence of electroacoustic music, 1950–1970].
  Master’s thesis, Universidade de São Paulo, 2003. Catanzaro adopts Wilson’s definition of technomorphism (p. 12, n. 4).
  Book edition, 7Letras, Rio de Janeiro, 2018. She uses Wilson’s definition to explain how composers adapt studio techniques for instruments (p. 18, n. 10).

The spectral dossier

South Korea

- Kim Jinho (2007). 배음렬 음악가로서의 그리제이(Gérard Grisey)의 음악적 생각에 대한 연구 – 연작곡 『음향적 공간들(Les espaces acoustiques)』을 중심으로
  [Gérard Grisey's musical thought as a spectral composer: A study of the cycle Les espaces acoustiques].
  Études de la culture et des arts francophones 22, 1–48. Kim lists six essays from the spectral dossier.
  (2008). 음렬 음악과 배음렬 음악의 쟁점들 [Points at Issue of Serial Music and Spectrum Music].
  Journal of the Musicological Society of Korea 11/1, 47–92. He cites dossier essays by Anderson, Barrière, Murail and Wilson.
- Stephen Jae Hyun No (2021). 그리제의 스펙트럴 어법 확립: 미학적 의미와 역사적 오해
  [Grisey's Spectral Language Establishment: Aesthetical Conception & Historical Delusion].
  Journal of Ewha Music Research Institute 25/1, 145–180. No cites Anderson's history of spectral music in issue 8.
- Kim Jinho (2022). "Korean way of perceiving the determinism of French spectral music and concrete music since 1970." Rast Musicology Journal 10/2, 183–214. Seven dossier essays helped frame his questions for 504 listeners.
- Yoomi Park (2023). 21세기의 인상주의: 트리스탕 뮈라이(Tristan Murail)의 피아노 음악
  [Impressionism in the Twenty-First Century: The Piano Music of Tristan Murail].
  Journal of Music and Theory 41, 49–81. Park cites No, who lists Anderson's essay from the Entretemps dossier.

The spectral dossier

Denmark

- Anders Beyer (1991). “Klangens udforskning” [Exploring sound]. Dansk Musik Tidsskrift 66, no. 1.
  Beyer draws on the spectral dossier to present Per Nørgård as a precursor of spectral music.
- Julian Anderson (1991). “Spektralmusik” [Spectral music]. Dansk Musik Tidsskrift 66, no. 1, 3–9.
  After his lectures in Copenhagen and Aarhus, Anderson recommends Entretemps 8.
- Bruno Giner (2003). “Den spektrale musik i få ord” [Spectral music in a few words].
  Dansk Musik Tidsskrift 77, no. 7. Translated by Erik Christensen.
  Giner uses Claudy Malherbe’s essay in Entretemps 8 to explain how sound properties change together.
- Niels Rosing-Schow (2006). “En ny Ny musik?” [A new New Music?]. Dansk Musik Tidsskrift 80, no. 4, 132–143.
  On musical processes, Rosing-Schow cites Grisey’s essay in Entretemps 8 alongside its German and English versions.

The Sciarrino dossier

Italian scholarship

- Carlo Carratelli (2006). L'integrazione dell'estesico nel poietico nella poetica musicale post-strutturalista. Il caso di Salvatore Sciarrino, una "composizione dell'ascolto"
  [Integrating the esthesic into the poietic in post-structuralist musical poetics. The case of Salvatore Sciarrino, a "composition of listening"].
  PhD in musicology, Università degli Studi di Trento and Université de Paris IV–Sorbonne.
  Carratelli uses Gérard Pesson's essay in Entretemps 9 to explain how listeners recognise a figure as it changes.

- Rocco De Cia (2012). Franco Donatoni. Ritratto di un musicista. Estetica, composizione, insegnamento
  [Franco Donatoni. Portrait of a musician. Aesthetics, composition, teaching].
  PhD thesis, Università degli Studi di Udine.
  De Cia quotes Martin Kaltenecker's dossier essay on how listeners group sounds in Sciarrino's music (p. 77, n. 15).

The Sciarrino dossier

Programme notes

- Festival d'Automne à Paris (2000). Dossier de presse Musique [Music press kit], pp. 44–46.
  The press kit reprints part of Gérard Pesson and Martin Kaltenecker's interview with Sciarrino from Entretemps 9.
- Paolo Petazzi (2014). Programme note on Soffio e forma [Breath and form]. Rai NuovaMusica, Turin, 1 March, p. 25.
  Petazzi quotes Sciarrino's interview in Italian to explain the work's barely audible sounds.
- Emanuele Bonomi (2013). "Bibliografia" [Bibliography], Aspern, Teatro La Fenice, Venice, p. 98, n. 13.
  The programme bibliography lists all four contributions to the Sciarrino dossier in Entretemps 9.
- Emanuele Bonomi (2014). "Bibliografia" [Bibliography], La porta della legge [The Gate of the Law], Teatro La Fenice, Venice, p. 81, n. 13.
  Bonomi includes the same four contributions in the reading list for this second opera.

The Sciarrino dossier

Studies in English

- Nicolas Hodges (1995). "'A Volcano Viewed from Afar': The Music of Salvatore Sciarrino." Tempo, new series, no. 194, 22–24.
  Hodges borrows the volcano image from Sciarrino's Entretemps interview to describe the energy beneath a quiet surface.

- David Metzer (2006). "Modern Silence." The Journal of Musicology 23, no. 3, 331–374.
  Metzer quotes the interview to explain how Sciarrino connects sound and silence (p. 332, n. 3).

- Giulia Monducci (2021). The Listening Space: Conception, Perception and Temporality in the Music of Salvatore Sciarrino.
  DPhil thesis, University of Oxford.
  Monducci translates a passage from Pesson's essay in Entretemps 9 on repetition and memory (p. 38, n. 42).

Articles on complexity

Composing after Donatoni

- Michael Barkl (2010). “Creating Memory: Reading a Patching Language.” In Cultural Computing, edited by Ryohei Nakatsu et al., 111–117. Springer.

  Barkl compares his 1986 analysis of Donatoni’s Etwas ruhiger im Ausdruck [Somewhat calmer in expression] with Robert Piencikowski’s analysis in Entretemps 2 (1986).

> “My confidence in the power of analysis,
> even of systematic creative processes, was severely shaken.”
> Michael Barkl, p. 112

Articles on complexity

Performing Ferneyhough

- Lois Fitch (2005). Brian Ferneyhough: The Logic of the Figure.
  PhD thesis, Durham University.
  Fitch draws on Donatoni's essay and interview in Entretemps 2 to compare their concepts of figure (pp. 121–135).

- Matteo Cesari (2015). Déchiffrer les horloges : l'interprétation du temps dans L'orologio di Bergson de Salvatore Sciarrino et Carceri d'Invenzione IIb de Brian Ferneyhough
  [Deciphering the clocks: Interpreting time in Salvatore Sciarrino's L'orologio di Bergson and Brian Ferneyhough's Carceri d'Invenzione IIb].
  PhD thesis, Université Paris-Sorbonne.
  Cesari questions Artaud's claim in Entretemps 3 that Unity Capsule cannot be played at the "exact tempo" (pp. 131–133).

- Cordula Pätzold (2002). Carceri d'Invenzione von Brian Ferneyhough: Kompositionstechnische und höranalytische Aspekte
  [Carceri d'Invenzione by Brian Ferneyhough: Compositional and perceptible aspects].
  PhD thesis, Albert-Ludwigs-Universität Freiburg.
  Pätzold cites Richard Toop's interview and analysis in Entretemps 3 in her account of Superscriptio (p. 23).

Articles on complexity

Understanding “musical complexity”

- Fabien Lévy (2008). “Inintelligible, injouable, incompréhensible : la complexité musicale est-elle analytique, instrumentale, perceptive ou hétéronome ?”
  [Unintelligible, unplayable, incomprehensible: Is musical complexity analytical, instrumental, perceptual, or heteronomous?]. Itamar 1, 61–87.
  Lévy quotes François Nicolas’s “Éloge de la complexité” [In praise of complexity] in Entretemps 3 on complexity as a condition of musical form.

- Nicolas Darbon (2007). Musica multiplex : dialogique du simple et du complexe en musique contemporaine [Musica multiplex: The dialogic of the simple and the complex in contemporary music]. Paris, L’Harmattan.
  Darbon quotes the same essay on the hostility toward Ferneyhough’s music (p. 15).
- Ian Pace (2015). “Positions, Methodologies and Aesthetics in the Published Discourse about Brian Ferneyhough: A Critical Study.” Search: Journal for New Music and Culture, no. 11, 1–73.
  Pace distinguishes Nicolas’s defence of complexity from the later label “New Complexity” (p. 32).
- Nicolas Darbon, ed. (2022). Música y complejidad: en torno a Edgar Morin y Jean-Claude Risset [Music and complexity: On Edgar Morin and Jean-Claude Risset]. Translated by Rosa Iniesta Masmano. Buenos Aires, Comunidad Editora Latinoamericana.
  Darbon quotes Nicolas’s essay in Spanish on complexity as the price of musical meaning (p. 82).
